

ClearWater Tech, LLC Donates a C1 Mobile Disinfection Cart to California State University, Fresno

The Viticulture and Enology Departments at Fresno State, will use the C1 Cart as part of their wine curriculum and research in their winemaking process.

Matt Brain M.A., Fresno State Winemaker & Lecturer

Fresno State is using the ClearWater Tech C1 Mobile Disinfection Cart in their winery! In addition to daily use for the wine making process, the students and head wine maker Matt Brain are developing a series of research programs to advance the science of wine making and microbial control.

The Department of Viticulture and Enology at California State University, Fresno was officially established in July 2000. Classes in viticulture and enology are designed to help the students incorporate the basic sciences into the production of grapes and wines with numerous opportunities for “hands-on” learning experiences.

Fresno State combines 150 acres of table, raisin and wine grape vineyards, a commercial 50,000 gallon winery, and a processing facility suitable for small-scale raisin production. This combination of academics and facilities has provided the training ground for numerous award winning viticulturists and winemakers.

The C1 Mobile Disinfection Cart provides ozone disinfection solutions for surface sanitation. Wash down floors, walls, equipment, rinse barrels and tanks with the push of a button. Easy to maneuver, the cart replaces traditional hot water and harsh chemical surface sanitation and provides safe sanitation on contact.

Plus, the C1 Mobile Cart comes standard with a separately controlled ozone gassing feature. This supply of ozone gas offers you greater disinfection options and is typically used to gas and preserve stored barrels instead of using Sulfur Dioxide. Use ozone gas to help disinfect sealed containers or tanks, and as a part of your environmental disinfection protocol.
